We Mitchell explained to-night that in cooling out the engineers, firemen and pummen the sole object was to benefit bein "We have no wish," he said, "to have the mines fill with water. The strike was not called to cause injury to property. It was called out of justice to the men who were at work. It would have been unfair tem to have asked them to go on working directly against their own interests.
Their claim to shorter hours had to be respected. They united their demand with ours are we assauded them in that demand. That is all. We do not wish to have the more fleeded. There was no such idea in ling the engineers, firemen and pump

The most important of them is John C. Haddock & Co. of Plymouth, a small bank-rupt concern that is now in the hands of a receiver. The operators say that they are at a loss to understand what Mr. Mitchell means when he says that the presence of guards on their premises is "unwarranted."

The operators have large properties which now are idle and must be protected. Past experience has told them that the men who are engaged in preventing their destruction by water also need protection when a work in the face of an order from the union declaring a strike. Under these circumstances they feel that the presence of the guards is very much warranted; in fact, absolutely essential.

As a matter of fact it is next to impossible to distribute the companied at work and the actual number of men who remained at work and the actual number of men who obsered the union's order to strike. In Nanticoke, for instance, at the mines of the Susquehanna Company, not one of the engineers, firemen or pumpmen quit work, will be at the Glen Lyon mine of the same company every man engaged in pumping out the imme obeyed the order to strike. The Glen Lyon mine, to be sure, is one about which the company is less concerned than it is in the Nanticoke mine and consequently less attention has been given to

MEN FOR THE COAL DISTRICTS. 275 Gathered Here Despite Arguments of Union Delegates.

An advertisement advising able-bodied ex-policemen, soldiers and sailors and firemen and pump handlers seeking work to apply at Rooms 20, 21 and 23 Ann street, for jobs out of town, drew a crowd of unemployed men to that address yesterday. The unions of firemen and stationary engineers, realizing that the men were probably wanted for the Coal and Iron Police and the engine rooms in the coal districts, sent two delegates, Syron and Holland, to try to persuade applicants not to take the offer. Suitable applicants for work were told that they would receive $2.50 a day and their board and that the work would be easy and some distance from New York. Two young men who hired them declined to say where the men were to go.

As the gangs of men who were hired left the building Syron and Holland stopped them and Syron pleaded with each of them not to take the offer. The police warned the delegates not to make a disturbance, but did not interfere with the pleading.

Notwithstanding the delegates 75 men were engaged and sent over the Cortlandt street ferry to Jersey City. About 200 more were engaged at the same agency last week. wanted for the Coal and Iron Police and

One of the most interesting speeches of the evening was that of Frank Campbell of Bath, chairman of the Democratic State Committee. He acted as Mr. Hill's mouthpiece. Mr. Campbell welcomed his fellow Democrats and said that permanent headquarters would be conducted, not in the interest of any one faction or candidate, but to see that the Democracy was organized in every locality and district and that the Democratic press of the State be made familiar with the shortcomings of the party in power. He said that the people were chafing under the administration of machine rule and that the expenses of the State government to-day were six or seven million dollars more them they were during the last Democratic administration.
